

"The Party Is Over"

Dear North Dorset Constituents,

I hope this letter finds you well. My name is Simon Adams, and I am writing to you today as a candidate for Member of Parliament in North Dorset. I implore you to consider voting for me as an Independent candidate, as I am determined to bring about a much-needed change in our local and national political landscape.

As we stand at this critical juncture in our nation's history, it is clear that faith in democracy and politics is being increasingly eroded. However, I believe the fault does not lie with democracy itself. Instead, it is the flawed system that upholds it – party politics – that is to blame.

"The Party is Over!" These words resonate deeply with me, as party politics has long outlived its usefulness. Political parties, despite their claims to uphold democracy, have become the cause of disillusionment and distrust on both national and global scales. Regardless of their affiliations, be it red, blue, yellow, green, or purple, all parties have contributed to the erosion of trust in our democratic process and the representatives we elect.

I come to you as a former Royal Marine, having served in the armed forces. Through my experience, I have witnessed firsthand the true essence of leadership and bravery. Across the country, there are individuals, like myself, who are fighting for a new form of democracy. We have realised that the time for change is now. We recognise that authentic political transformation can only occur when we dare to stand up and say, "Enough is enough. I will make a difference. I am audacious enough to vote for a different form of democracy."

To the voters of North Dorset, I humbly request your support. If you elect me, I promise to bring fairness and respect to politics. I will embrace ideas from all sides, regardless of party affiliation. Together, we can create an inclusive and collaborative political environment that values the diverse perspectives and needs of our North Dorset constituents.

There is a famous saying, "If you always do what you always did, you'll always get what you always got." On July 4th, we have a unique opportunity to break free from the stagnant politics and democracy that we have grown accustomed to over the past two decades and more. But in order to achieve this, we must vote Independent. We must vote for Simon Adams.

I thank you for considering my candidacy and for your potential support. Let us come together and embark on a new era of democracy, one that restores faith in our political system and ultimately serves the needs of the people.

Sincerely,

Simon Adams
Independent Candidate for North Dorset
